James H Fennell

Excerpt from A Natural History of British and Foreign Quadrupeds: Containing Many Modern Discoveries, Original Observations, and Numerous Anecdotes Wonder lies In the mind merely of the wondering man Treading the steps of common life, with eyes Of curious inquisition, some will stare At each discovery of Natures ways, As it were new to find that God contrives. The contrary were marvellous to me, And till I find it I shall marvel not Or all is wonderful, or nothing is.
