

The National Magazine, Vol. 7 : Devoted to Literature, Art, and Religion July to December, 1855 (Classic Reprint)

Abel Stevens

Excerpt from The National Magazine, Vol. 7: Devoted to Literature, Art, and Religion July to December, 1855 Bishop Scott was elected the first on the list of the new candidates of 1852, and by the largest majority. He had done well in the Book Concern along with his venerable associate the Rev. George Lane, and had helped successfully to steady it amidst the hurricane that swept over the denomination at the division of the Church, North and South.
